Germans Realize Danger of French Advance and Commence Strengthening Forces Along Line Guarding Peronne, But Fail Utterly in Their Efforts to Push Their Assailants Back.

RUSSIANS AGAIN STEP INTO LIMELIGHT

Austro-German Losses to Date in Opposing Brusiloff's Drive Estimated at Half a Million Men, the Austrians Admitting Being Driven Back Nearly Five Miles in Battle West of Kolomea—Lloyd-George Now British Secretary for War.

Violent counter attacks by the Germans on almost the entire line of French advance in the Somme region show a change in the situation from the earlier days of the Anglo-French offensive. In the beginning the Germans concentrated their forces against the British, apparently considering the operations of the French to the south as of small significance. But the rapid movement of the French troops, together with the importance of the objective for which they are aiming, has had the effect of changing the German view and causing the German commanders to strengthen their defenses and forces along the line guarding Peronne and other important strategic points in the main battle area.

The immensity of the Russian drive during the last month is indicated by unofficial reports from Petrograd which say that the Austro-German losses in the endeavor to stay the advance of General Brusiloff total nearly 500,000 men, about half of whom are prisoners. Not less than 250 guns of various sizes and more than 700 machine guns and an immense quantity of other booty have been taken.

The Austrians admit a serious defeat west of Kolomea where they were driven back nearly five miles.

The latest official statement from the Russian war office announces the capture of approximately 10,000 additional prisoners, 5,000 of whom are known to be Germans taken in a recent battle on the Dniester. About 5,000 other prisoners were captured on other sections of the Russian front.

The Germans admit the withdrawal of General von Bothmer's army in the Tarnow sector before the powerful attack of the Russians. They concede also an advance by the British south of Triesval in the western zone.

David Lloyd George, who has been responsible for the immense quantities of shells the enemy allies now are hurling at their opponents, has taken over the duties of minister for war in the British cabinet. Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, has been made an earl, while Lord Derby, director of recruiting, who helped to create the British armies, is the new undersecretary for war.

REGULAR RESERVES CALLED TO COLORS

Washington, July 6.—The war department announced tonight that it would call to the colors within a few days the regular army reserve consisting of between three thousand and five thousand men who have served in the army in order to hasten organization of new units provided by the army reorganization act. Those who will be accepted by the order are enlisted men who have been furloughed into the reserve since November 1, 1915, after having been in active service for three years.

The reserve may be called into active service under the law in case of "war emergency."

About 20,000 men are needed for the additional units authorized for this year by the reorganization act. The war department is determined to develop these without breaking up the existing units, and those who are necessary are to understand the decision to issue a call to the colors grew out of this desire rather than from any further need of troops in the Mexican emergency. Officials believe the call also will furnish a fair working test of the reserve system.

This will be the first time the reserve has been called out since it was created by the act of November 1, 1912.

Russians Develop Attack Along Kiev-Kovel Railway

London, July 6.—The results of the staff correspondence of the entente allies in London in May and June are becoming continually more apparent in the re-ordination of the allied attacks on the Teutonic forces and increasing evidence of the initiative passing from the Teutons to the allies at almost all points.

As the French and British armies are now engaged in reorganizing and preparing for the second phase of the battle of the Somme there is a comparative lull on the western front and Russia again takes the center of the stage. Today's news from Petrograd is highly important in the light of future developments of the Somme battle. The news that the Russians have captured 5,000 prisoners on the Dniester front appears to leave little doubt of the coming of holidays for munition workers during July. The expenditure of munitions in the Somme battle has been the theme and surprise of all the correspondents at the front and the nation is aware that nothing must be allowed to interfere with the maintenance of a full supply.

Tropical Storm Kills at Least Seventeen And Does Immense Damage to Property as It Sweeps Inward Over Southern States

DAMAGE AT MOBILE LESS THAN THOUGHT

Mobile, Ala., July 6.—(By Courier to Meridian.)—Property damage in Mobile as a result of the tropical hurricane of yesterday will not exceed $50,000, according to estimates made today by bankers and other authorities. There was no loss of life.

Although Mobile was in the grasp of the storm for twelve hours and the wind attained a maximum velocity of eighty-five miles an hour, not a single substantial or large building was demolished. A number of small houses and shacks were wrecked, but the principal damage resulted from the unroofing of large buildings.

Electric lights, street cars, telephones and telegraph wires went out of commission, but today the damage was being repaired. Partial street car service is expected to be resumed tomorrow. Fallen trees were responsible for the prostration of the telephone and telegraph wires. The wireless towers on top of hotel were blown down early Wednesday and radio communication with the outside world was made impossible.

According to reports reaching Mobile, the following details were lost or beached in coming into the bay from the ship Schooner A. L. Mangold crew saved; schooner Nora Belle, now missing; bay packet James A. Cannon sunk; and the packet Nora Belle was found; the stern of a schooner, the only identification mark being the words, "Moss Point."

Reports not confirmed today state that the schooners T. W. Wiley, Newport, Koppersmith and Confidential had gone ashore on the beach.

The coast guard cutter Tallapoosa was damaged. She made unsuccessful attempts during the day to reach outside points with her wireless.

The water reached a short distance beyond Royal street, a trifle further than during the storm of 1906. Leaking roofs caused some damage in the business section, while goods stored on lower floors in establishments facing the river were slightly damaged.

The negro ward of the city hospital was torn away but the patients were removed to safety. The other part of the building was undamaged. The building owned by the Mobile Yacht club, unprotected, on Mobile bay, was destroyed. Fences and partitions of bleachers and grandstand of the Southern association baseball club were destroyed. The Louisville & Nashville shops were partially unroofed and slight damage was done to the Mobile & Ohio banana pier. The dry dock marine hospital, medical college, county court house, police station and the municipal wharf were not damaged. A few bales of cotton floated away from the wharf.

It was believed persons residing on the eastern shore were safe, as well as those around Coden, Ala., the latter point being on the Mississippi sound.

The last word from Pensacola reaching Mobile Wednesday said the wind was eighty miles early that afternoon. Then all wires failed.

The storm apparently was generated north of Mobile. The railroads out of the city and in the western Alabama and eastern Mississippi territory timber was destroyed and corn and other crops were leveled to the ground. The Baptist church at Waycross, Miss., was destroyed.

Serious fears were felt for the safety of D. P. Bestor and wife and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Farson Lyons, all of Mobile. They were last seen at Vicksburg night off Fort McRae, and were going towards Damon Island, in the Mississippi sound. Bestor is an attorney and Lyons is a capitalist. They were in a small yacht.

J. H. Brown, general manager of the road, who was on the train, said no damage was done near Gulfport by the tropical storm and he had no reports of loss of life or injury to persons.

Between Gulfport and Pass Christian was said to have been forced to suspend operation. He thought the damage in the interior was greater than on the coast.

The South of Hattiesburg the railroad track was obstructed at many places with trees and wreckage and the depot at McRae had been demolished.

Seventeen Negroes Killed.

Selma, Ala., July 6.—Seven negroes were killed by a tornado late today, according to information received here tonight. Eight persons were injured and a number of houses were blown down near Beloit. All wires were down and direct communication with that vicinity had been interrupted.

The reserve may be called into active service under the law in case of "war emergency."

A Lecture Last Evening; Story Hour This Eve

Prof. Henry Trantham of the department of Greek at Baylor entertained quite a large audience yesterday evening at 8:15 with a lecture on England and Oxford. The slides gave some very good stereopticon views of Oxford, and Professor Trantham supplemented these very cleverly with stories of his own experience and many Oxford traditions. Views were shown of the various individual colleges, and the entire Oxford university organization was very briefly but clearly explained. Professor Trantham speaks very freely and easily, and in a delightful conversational manner.

The next of the series of events on the campus is the story hour this evening at 6:45. Miss Lillie Martin, Baylor's charming story teller, will tell "Story of Baldur, which she promises is one of the best stories of the season. The songs for the evening will be some of the old favorites, particularly such as Maggie and Ben. Both these are led by members of the fine arts faculty, but the entire audience joins in the singing. Other special features, either of music or reading, are being arranged.

If Too Fat Get

More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND REDUCE IN YOUR WEIGHT. TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air it is said weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many vital organs is hampered thereby. The heart and lungs become weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a fat, and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spent as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get to a physician's Drug Store or any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.

Louisiana Solons Pass Many Laws

Baton Rouge, La., July 6.—The 1916 session of the Louisiana legislature adjourned finally today, enacting into laws about 250 of the 700 bills introduced. Among the more important measures enacted were new primary election and registration laws, devised in a democratic caucus. The primary act makes various forms of primary election illegal and provides fines of from $50 to $500 or imprisonment from two to twelve months for violations of its provisions.

The measure to submit to the voters a proposed constitutional amendment giving women the ballot was defeated, but the legislature adopted a measure to submit to the people a proposed amendment to make women eligible to serve on state educational, eleemosynary, penal and corrective boards.

The house defeated a bill which would have provided for the guaranty of the bank deposits and the house killed a measure to create a state commission to control horse racing and permit betting under the pari-mutuel system.

House Debating on Revenue Bill

Washington, July 6.—Representatives of cattle growers and the country's big packing houses were given a final hearing today by the house judiciary subcommittee considering Representative Borland's resolution for a federal trade commission investigation of the packing industry.

Speakers for the cattlemen said an inquiry was necessary to insure reasonable meat prices to consumers. An array of counsel for the Armour, Swift, Cudahy, Sulzberger and Morris companies argued that such a proceeding was unconstitutional and would be certain to work incalculable harm to the packing industry.

The Armour interests presented a statement reciting that its average profit per head on livestock slaughtered for the year ending October, 1915, was but $1.19. Morris & Co.'s representative declared their net earnings averaged less than per cent.

Swift & Co. submitted a statement that average profits of 28.3c a 100-weight were made before interest charges were paid.

The principal argument, however, of the packers' representatives was an injunction's probable disturbance to business.

Cork Legs and Board Bill.

A gentleman in Paterson, N. J., whose brother-in-law owes him $54 for board has seized all securities, pawned and otherwise, to pay the debt, a cork leg valued at $150.

Placing a valuation of only $150 on a cork leg is ridiculous. A cork leg is worth more than a leg of flesh and bone, properly articulated and operating in full harmony with the other members of the natural body.

What does a cork leg know of the twinges of rheumatism? Does its foot ever "go to sleep"? The cork leg will buoy you up—though perhaps as a life preserver in the water a wooden head, being at the drowning end were better.

It is an unskillful artificer who cannot give to a cork leg a lovelier shape than the Creator gives to the props of men. If a cork leg is ever bowed, it is only to match an imperfed model which you might not even be able to perceive or to perceive of correction. You cannot pay a board bill with a leg born on you. A cork leg is worth 150 times $150 and to seize it is a guarantee settlement of a fifty-dollar obligation, as proof of complete lack of sense of proportion.

SIMPLE APPLICATION THAT DISSOLVES BLACKHEADS

BLACKHEADS

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those ugly, blemished blackheads. There is one safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of powdered borax from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a wet sponge, rub briskly on the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the pads and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads must largely be left to you, but don't get rid of the blackheads out this way. This simple application of powdered borax and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores clear and natural condition. Any druggist will sell you the powdered borax and about two ounces will be all you will ever need.

The house defeated a measure which would limit working days in mills and factories to ten hours and also defeated a bill which would make illegal the issuing of injunctions against labor unions.

A law was enacted making compulsory school attendance of children between the ages of 7 and 14 years a compulsory measure for cattle dipping and tick eradication.

The senate defeated a bill which would have provided for the guaranty of the bank deposits and the house killed a measure to create a state commission to control horse racing and permit betting under the pari-mutuel system.

House Debating on Revenue Bill

Washington, July 6.—The house today began a four days' debate on the administration revenue bill designed to raise $197,000,000 next year by a surtax on incomes and by taxes on inheritances and on war munitions profits. Under a special rule final vote will be taken Monday.

Majority Leader Kitchin asked that the bill be passed as a non-partisan preparedness measure, since so large a portion of the revenue to be derived would go for army and navy increases. Republican leaders replied by charging the administration with gross extravagance.

Mr. Kitchin said a total of $266,000 would be needed to carry out the enormous appropriation program congress had drawn up and the $197,000,000 to be raised by the revenue bill would leave $69,000,000 to be made up out of the general fund.

Representative Fordney of Michigan, ranking republican member of the ways and means committee, attacking the proposal for a surtax on incomes, declared the income tax was a burden being imposed on the Northern states by the South.

Russians Fall Back in Bagdad Region

London, July 7.—2:25 a. m.—A Petrograd dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says that the Russians have fallen back almost eighty miles in the Bagdad region.

The dispatch says the pressure of the Turkish forces was only one reason which caused the retreat of the Russians. The Turks are said to have gathered a great army to contest the Russian advance. Among these troops was the force originally destined for the invasion of Egypt, troops which had been withdrawn from Bulgaria and a cavalry of 130,000 men with reserves from the Saloniki front.

The principal reason, however, is that the intense heat in Mesopotamia makes campaigning very difficult at this time of the year. It is reported that Russian troops planned to remain in the cool of the hills until climatic conditions make the resumption of the advance expedient.

Dr. A. J. Barton Ridicules Charges Made by Kirk

Dallas, July 6.—Dr. A. J. Barton, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, gave out the following:

In the daily press of Sunday, July 2, I observed an interview by Secretary Charles J. Kirk as to the submission petition presented to the state democratic executive committee. Upon the same I beg the privilege of offering the following:

"Home and State has made no reflection and passed no severe criticism upon the state democratic executive committee. It has only said that the committee, being mainly anti-prohibitionists, were not very anxious to put the question of submission on the ballot, but that the law was mandatory and that in view of the circumstances the committee behaved pretty well. So far from breaking the force of what Home and State has said, Mr. Kirk's statement amply corroborates it."

The submission petition presented to the state democratic executive committee was the same in form as that used two years ago and was got up in the same way and by the same organization.

When the petition was presented to the committee the committee was given every assurance that all possible care had been used to secure the signatures of qualified democratic voters only and to avoid all duplications; that repeated instructions had been given to those securing the names to guard these points well; that the names had been counted on an adding machine and arranged in alphabetical order for the convenience of the committee; that each signer had testified solemnly that he is a qualified democratic voter and that, while it had been manifestly impossible to check each of the 50,000 names, and while no individual would know all of the signers, if he should check the list, there was every assurance that the list was correct.

"It would probably be too much to hope that 50,000 signatures could be secured without some unavoidable mistakes in rare instances, but if in any instance an error occurred in the petition it was unavoidable so far as those handling the matter are concerned. If any error occurred it would naturally be only in the rarest instance and would in no way affect the validity and adequacy of the petition since there was a margin of 8,000 names."

W. B. Head Spending Day in Waco

W. B. Head of Dallas, assistant to President J. F. Strickland of the Texas Power and Light company, reached Waco last night and is here this morning.

Mr. Head is a very busy man, but as Waco is an important point for the Texas Power and Light company and for the Texas Electric Railways company, he comes to this place right often. Just at present an important piece of work is in progress in Waco in the installation of the four new boilers which the light company people are putting into the building in East Waco which houses the machine shop which generates so much electrical energy for this city and section. The placing of these boilers in commission will double the present output of force and power in the way of electricity, and it is thought that the work will have been completed before fall of the present year.

A great many people here know Mr. Head, and he is always given the glad hand here.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had nervous trouble all my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nerves and for female troubles and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it shows that I stand it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I have also had my oldest girl good. I keep it in the house all the time and recommend it."—Mrs. DEWITT SINCEBAUGH, West Danby, N. Y.

Sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, backache, headaches, dragging sensations, all point to female derangements which may be overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

The Morrow Street Methodist church on Tuesday evening was the scene of one of the prettiest weddings of the season. The church was decorated with palms and flowers and brilliantly lighted. Long before the appointed hour every available seat was filled with friends and relatives to witness the ceremony of Miss Edyth May Faquet and Mr. Roy McGlasson Taylor, the plighting of their troth. Mrs. H. C. Munger, the accomplished wife of the bride's pastor, sang very appealingly. At dawnings to the sweet accompaniment of Miss Pearle McKay, who later gave the wedding march and during the ceremony rendered in softest tones "The Rosary."

After removal of maline barriers from the aisles Mr. Harvey Faquet, brother of the bride, and Mr. Addie McCormick led the wedding march, followed by Miss Josephine Smith and Mr. Allen Taylor, brother of the groom. Miss Stella Allen, maid of honor and bride's maid wore summer frocks of white net and pink muslin with butterfly bows and carried arm bouquets of pink carnations. They wore pink lace hats. Eva and Wanda Faquet, small sisters of the bride, were lovely flower girls and carried gold baskets tied with pink maline containing rose petals in the aisle.

The bride, attired in an exquisite costume of pearl gray taffeta with bejeweled little poke bonnet, carrying shower bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley, entered on the arm of her father, Mr. Faquet, and was met at the altar by the broom. Mr. Roy McGlasson Taylor, who was attended by Floyd Ellenberg, his best man. The beautiful ring service of the Methodist church was used by Rev. H. C. Munger.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Faquet of this city and has been the recipient of many personal courtesies since announcement of her approaching marriage was formally made. She was indeed lovely on this occasion. Mr. Taylor, the groom, is well and favorably known in Waco, although he claims Hillsboro as home. From the church the wedding couple slipped quietly away, keeping the whereabouts a secret.

A new feature in this wedding was the reception hour held before the ceremony and was for relatives and bridal party only. Punch was served and a wedding cake cut. Miss Josephine Smith found the dinner Mr. Ellingburger the thimble and little Ivon Faquet the ring. The esteem in which the young couple are held was evidenced by numerous and costly gifts.

It is predicted as a young matron Mrs. Taylor will be as popular as she was when Miss Faquet.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Mr. and Mrs. Hickey of Hillsboro and Mr. O. H. Whately and daughters, Misses Ramona and Annie Whately, all of Hillsboro. Also Curtis McLean of Mart and Rev. A. D. Porter of Cleburne.

HONORING MISS VIRGINIA ELDENS AND MISS WILLS

A very enjoyable affair of the week was that of Wednesday evening when Mrs. D. S. Eddens complimented her daughter, Miss Virginia Eddens, a nearby debutante, and Miss Cora Wills of Corsicana, also Miss Ouida Ferguson of Austin, with an evening dance at the Country club. The ball room had been transformed into a bower of beauty with the golden glow of hundreds of sunflowers and myriads of electric lights. A program of eighteen dances and more was enjoyed. The tune of inspiring music, the dances were listed within dainty booklets bearing handsome gold monogram of the hostess. These were distributed by Misses Elizabeth Bray and Elizabeth Morris. Throughout the evening cooling punch was dipped by Miss Hobart, Mand Neff and Gertrude Emerson, relieved by Misses Bray and Miss Morris. Miss Eddens wore a girl's costume of white net with blue ribbons and her escort for the evening was Willard Wigley. Miss Cora Wills was gowned becomingly in white net embroidered in green and was with Bowden Hays. Miss Ferguson wore a stunning dress of blue taffeta and net and danced with Scott Hill. This was much enjoyed compliment from Mrs. Eddens to her charming daughter and attractive household guest, Miss Wills, and a popular visitor, Miss Ferguson.

Assisting Mrs. Eddens in the evening's entertainment were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hill and Mrs. Flora Morse. Enjoying the dance were Misses Cora Wills, Neff, Gerald, Farr, Smith, Camille Scarey, Mary Farr, Emma Farrar, Evans, Marie Moore, Sallie Thompson, Norma Bonner, Dolly Lake, Mary Allison, Louise Halton, Lila Lazenby, Sally Morse, Hallie Morse, Florrie Neal, Cooper, Billie Foster, Margaret Gorman, Norma Gorman, Janette Gorman, Anne Risher, Ruth Lenox, F. ### Society Notes

Mrs. T. D. Hayes and Miss Hattie Moore with Messrs. Hal and Moore Hayes and Francis Herbin leave Saturday to join Mr. and Mrs. Booker, Mrs. Ella Little and Miss Daisy Leadall of Temple, in an automobile trip to Seven Hundred Springs near San Angelo. They expect to be gone two weeks.

How unfortunate it is that the drivers of delivery wagons should permit their horses and mules to nip the plants and flowers on sidewalks after the owners have taken care to plant and grow them.

It is gratifying to the many friends of Mrs. Fred Mailander to know that she is so pleasantly located in El Paso and being benefited by the climate.

Mrs. T. A. Blair promises her friends many pleasant drives in her new Overland car.

Miss Hester Foster complimented Miss Ouida Ferguson of Austin with a catered supper at the Huaco on last Thursday evening. Her guests were Misses Helen Williams, Miss Ouida Ferguson and Earle Farrar, Holt Massey and Lynn Adams.

The Military society of the Austin Avenue Methodist church will meet only once monthly from now until Thanksgiving. These meetings will combine both religious and literary programs. The first of these meetings is to be this afternoon and will find Mrs. Walter Reese presiding.

Rev. W. B. Holland and family, recently of McGregor, are making Waco their home and residing at the corner of Fourth and Fifth. Rev. Holland is the newly installed pastor of Clay Street Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Denton are permanently located with Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Cruzer since their marriage on Monday.

Miss Nellie Lee Hill is receiving often and repeated compliments on her reading of "The Blue Bird" in Carroll chapel on last Tuesday evening.

Society Personals

GREGORY DOES NOT EXPECT TO SUCCEED JUSTICE HUGHES

Washington, July 6.—On leaving the White House after a conference with the president today, Attorney General Gregory said he thought there was little likelihood that he would be nominated to succeed Charles E. Hughes on the supreme bench.

"There are a number of cases now pending for reargument before the supreme court that I would be disqualified from hearing on account of my connection with them," he said, "and Justice McReynolds also would be disqualified in sitting in several cases."

"Hence that is one of several good reasons why I think my appointment would be a bad one."

Mr. Gregory declined to comment on the report that Senator Walsh might be appointed.

W. B. Head Spending Day in Waco

W. B. Head of Dallas, assistant to President J. F. Strickland of the Texas Power and Light company, reached Waco last night and is here this morning.

Mr. Head is a very busy man, but as Waco is an important point for the Texas Power and Light company and for the Texas Electric Railways company, he comes to this place right often. Just at present an important piece of work is in progress in Waco in the installation of the four new power boilers which the light company people are putting into the big building in East Waco which houses the machinery which generates so much electrical energy for this city and section. The placing of these boilers in commission will double the present output of force and power in the way of electricity, and it is thought that the work will have been completed before fall of the present year.

A great many people here know Mr. Head, and he is always given the glad hand here.

S. C. Padelford Speaks in Waco

Judge S. C. Padelford of Cleburne was a pleasant caller at the News office yesterday. Judge Padelford is here in the interest of his candidacy for congress-at-large. It will be remembered that Judge Padelford was formerly the law partner of Judge William Poindexter, also of Cleburne, and is considered one of the leading attorneys of Texas. A man of rare educational attainments, an exemplary citizen and a statesman of statewide reputation. He spoke briefly in the interest of his candidacy upon the court house lawn just before the address of ex-Gov. T. M. Campbell last night.

WOMAN HAD NERVOUS TROUBLE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegeta- ble Compound Helped Her.

West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had nervous trouble all my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nerves and for female troubles and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it took it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I have also had my oldest girl take it and it did her lots of good. I keep it in the house all the time and recommend it."—Mrs. DEWITT SINCEBAUGH, West Danby, N. Y.

Sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, backache, headaches, dragging sensations, all point to female derangements which may be overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bondurant, Evelyn Bondurant, Miss Ruth Evans, Miss Jane Moore, Clarabel Knight with Misses Tom and Ora Moore leaving for a two weeks' outing on the Charles E. Moore place. This is an ideal location for a camp since its proximity to the Bosque makes fishing and swimming an enjoyable feature.

MRS. LOVELACE HAS CARD CLUB WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Carl Lovelace entertained very charmingly on Wednesday morning. The card rooms were attractive in their decoration of various cut flowers. In this Mrs. Lovelace entertained her club with the addition of a card table formed of Mrs. Harvey C. Richer, Mrs. Irwin Colgin, Mrs. Ann Risher, Miss Tom Lucy of Corsicana.

Mrs. A. V. Cross assisted in the passing of a dainty salad plate. Mrs. L. C. Alexander has the club next week.

MR. AND MRS. A. R. LAWSON HAVE '84' GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Lawson opened their home for an eighty-four party on Tuesday evening. Guests were invited for 8:30, and five tables of play formed the game. This was truly a Fourth of July celebration. Table markers were pictures of our president, enfolded in flags. Flags marked the progression and cream molded in flags followed in the refreshment feature, and was a pleasant finale to a glorious Fourth in which the husbands were included.

MRS. KYLE VICK IS BRIDGE HOSTESS

The final card game of the Debutante Bridge club was played with Mrs. Kyle Vick on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock on the cool and inviting porch of the Mayfield home, which held stands of zinnias and other freshly clippings. This game was every bit as enjoyable as the previous games have been. Miss Vashti Hobby games have been. Miss Mildred Smith held substitute hands, the latter being the fortunate winner of a dainty tatting trimmed camisole, the hostess' own needlework. At this meeting it was definitely decided to adjourn until next September. Bamboo trays were passed holding tempting luncheon plates of hot rolls, home-boiled jam, sweet pickle and mint flavored tea.

MRS. W. E. SEIFER ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE

Mrs. W. E. Seifer entertained three tables of bridge players on Wednesday. Eight ladies who play regularly during the winter and four more were invited to fill out a third table. This was an enjoyable informal party. Mrs. Moss of Fort Worth scored high and a pair of silk hose was her reward. Mrs. Vivrett was handed a box of choice cake made by Mrs. Seifer. Grape ice and angel food concluded this agreeable affair.

PLAYING WERE MESDAMES W. B. WRIGHT, WILL VIVRETT, F. J. LENNOX, BEHRENS, F. M. THWING, MRS. OF FORT WORTH, W. P. KILLINGSWORTH, T. C. EDMONDSON, IKE MAYFIELD, JOHN D. MAYFIELD, DAN LE BOW AND WILCOX.

Mrs. Moore Hays was assistant hostess.

LOOKING BENEATH SOFT WORDS.

The immediate cause of the present controversy between this country and Mexico was the sending of American troops into Mexico, and the order given by Carranza that they should be attacked if they attempted to move in any direction except northward.

In accordance with his orders, American soldiers were attacked at Carrizal, and several killed. Our government then, apparently to fix responsibility for this attack, called upon the de facto government for a definite avowal of its purposes. In this demand reference is made to a previous communication from Carranza "as a final avowal of deliberately hostile action against the forces of the United States now in Mexico, and of the purpose to attack them without provocation whenever they move from their present position in pursuance of the objects for which they were sent there."

The reply of the de facto government, which was printed yesterday, does not disavow responsibility for the Carrizal attack, or declare any change of purpose from the one accredited to it by the American note. It couples together the withdrawal of the American troops and the protection of the frontier as the essential things to be considered, and reiterates the declaration that the trespass on the sovereignty of Mexico is the immediate cause of the conflicts.

In short, the de facto government stands squarely behind the Carrizal attack, and declines to alter its determination to make similar attacks upon American troops going in any direction except northward. Nor does it offer apologies or amends for the Carrizal attack, or disavow responsibility for it.

The language used in the latest note is temperate and argumentative; the purpose declared is unchanged.

Those who have been quick to jump to the conclusion that our troubles with Mexico are at end may be too hasty. Soft words do not soften harsh deeds. Either our soldiers were wrongfully in Mexico, or they were wrongfully killed at Carrizal. If they were wrongfully killed, the Mexican government should disclaim and apologize. There is a greater reason for that than for the requirement made of Huerta to salute the flag at Vera Cruz. We are on trial now before the people of Mexico. If, according to their view of it, we shall be bluffed or chased out of their territory, many years will pass before American influence will weigh for anything there.

When Carranza's soldiers at Santa Rosalia attacked the executive office of the cruiser Chattanooga, he was going neither east, west nor south. There can be no enduring peace between this country and Mexico until there is a complete revision of the course and policy of the Mexican government and people with respect to Americans in Mexico. As long as they behave themselves, they have a right to be there—the same right that an Englishman, a German or a Frenchman has to be there. The suggestion that an American who goes to Mexico takes his life in his hand and is an interloper, not entitled to the protection of his home government, will not meet with the approval of the people of this country. They will not tolerate a Mexican boycott any more than a Mexican trespass across the border.

All indications point to the determination of the Germans to protect their defenses in northwestern France at any cost.

The success of the French along the Somme is probably due to the withdrawal of German forces there to strengthen the western front. Two reasons constrain the Germans to this intense dislike of the British. The other is the importance of the western front in its relation to the sea. The scene has shifted from Verdun to Boiselle.

The test of strength which is now being made there will be universally accepted as conclusive. Both sides have made long preparation for it. Each is putting forth its uttermost efforts. Boiselle is the beginning of the final chapter.

These figures are presented without comment save that they are interesting as they make the showing on individual salaries in dollars and cents, which brings the subject a little nearer home to most of us. This is a matter in which the public is much interested and it is sincerely hoped that a friendly settlement will be brought about within the very near future.

That latest gulf cyclone gave Texas a wide berth and galloped off into Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi. It probably discovered that all available air space was already taken here for political purposes.

Cotton, it should be borne in mind, is the only staple that makes war hotter and peace lovelier. Whichever way the tide turns, up goes cotton.

This paper does not presume to arbitrate the great questions involved in the eight-hour day proposed by the trainmen. The railroads set forth their claims and the trainmen likewise put up their claims in a forceful manner. Figures presented yesterday, and supposed authoritative, show the actual results on one particular run as an example, from Denison to Dallas during October, the crew working twenty-six days. These figures are presented without comment save that they are interesting as they make the showing on individual salaries in dollars and cents, which brings the subject a little nearer home to most of us. This is a matter in which the public is much interested and it is sincerely hoped that a friendly settlement will be brought about within the very near future.

How many American school children know who Bolivar was? How many know the story of how Brazil won her independence from Portugal? How many have read the tragic story of Little Paraguay's desperate war against almost all the rest of South America?

In an address before the National Education association last night, Secretary McAdoo urged the teaching of a proper conception of Latin-America in the public schools of our nation.

Not only will it help in binding the western hemisphere closer together, but it will give the students many interesting hours in learning the interesting history of the republics south of the equator.

SCHOOLS SHOULD TEACH ABOUT LATIN AMERICA

SECRETARY M'ADOO URGES TEACHERS TO BROADEN COURSES.

Securing of Amity and Co-operation Among Republics Declared Important.

New York, July 5.—What the country's public schools might do toward promoting Pan-Americanism by teaching a proper conception of the political, economic and social development of Latin-American countries was outlined by William McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, in an address to-night before the National Education association, in session here. He declared that upon the teachers lay the ultimate responsibility of making effective President Wilson's policy of securing amity and co-operation among the republics of the hemisphere.

"I do not mean to criticize, but simply to record a fact," said Mr. McAdoo, "when I say that the public schools of the United States have not contributed to their full share toward inculcating in the youth of the country a proper understanding of the political, economic and social development of our sister republics. That is the lack of understanding that has prevented the growth of a sufficiently enlightened public opinion in the United States with reference to Latin-American affairs. It is this absence of sympathetic comprehension that makes it so easy to mislead public opinion in the United States and so often to cause unwitting injury to our Latin-American relations."

"American history is taught as if it began and ends with the history of the United States; American geography is interpreted as if it were the geography of the United States. In the study of commerce and industry the provincial view is too frequently taken that Latin-America is merely a sort of supply of raw material for the United States. Our present lack of understanding is a source of national weakness."

The history of the Spanish-American colonies is also poorly presented, is the most inspiring record. The colonies that the North American colonies had to overcome were not so formidable as those which confronted the revolting Spanish colonies. The story of this struggle, if properly presented and interpreted, would make the youth of our country appreciate the similarity of ideals which dominated the people of the political system of the United States and the leaders of Latin-American independence and would serve to develop a sympathetic understanding of the political life of these countries.

Indeed, in late century the American continent has been the great laboratory of political evolution, furnishing a body of material to the teacher of history and civics which we hardly begin to utilize.

"The development of that true spirit of continental solidarity with the people of Central and South America for which our country living would be sent forward immeasurably if we could give more attention to their language and literature. The teaching of Spanish should be made compulsory in our public schools. At the present time we rarely think of citing Latin-American publicists and scientists. Practically no reference is ever made to Latin-American literature. We pay little attention to the currents of thought of Central or South America, unmindful of the fact that important contributions have been made and are constantly being made in every department of literature and scientific effort."

"Upon this task the teacher of history has a field of opportunity. The teachers elected for the ensuing year: A. L. Baker, Stockdale, Texas, president; T. B. Drury, Floresville, Texas, vice-president; W. C. Mills, Floresville, Texas, lecturer and organizer.

The following resolution was offered by the committee on resolutions and was adopted without a dissenting vote:

"Whereas, the bill now in known as the Robertson insurance law, is being attached by certain interests, both in and out of this state, whose interests are diametrically opposite to that of the farmer and every other business, that is for the greatest advancement of the general welfare of the state; and"

"Resolved, That the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative union of Wilson county, Texas, in convention assembled at Floresville, Texas, July 1, 1916, go on record as opposed to any law that will repeat or tend to change in any way the law known as the Robertson insurance law."

"Whereas, the repeal of said law will permit certain interests to come into the state and instead of investing money gleaned from the people of this state will take said money out of the state and invest it in Eastern securities that can be of no possible benefit to our state or our people, therefore, be it resolved,"

LOOKING BENEATH SOFT WORDS.

The immediate cause of the present controversy between this country and Mexico was the sending of American troops into Mexico, and the order given by Carranza that they should be attacked if they attempted to move in any direction except northward. In accordance with his orders, American soldiers were attacked at Carrizal, and several killed. Our government then apparently to fix responsibility for this attack, called upon the de facto government for a definite avowal of its purposes. In this demand reference is made to a previous communication from Carranza "as a final avowal of deliberately hostile action against the forces of the United States now in Mexico, and of the purpose to attack them without provocation whenever they move from their present position in pursuance of the objects for which they were sent there."

The reply of the de facto government, which was printed yesterday, does not disavow responsibility for the Carrizal attack, or declare any change of purpose from the one accredited to it by the American note. It couples together the withdrawal of the American troops and the protection of the frontier as the essential things to be considered, and reiterates the declaration that the trespass on the sovereignty of Mexico is the immediate cause of the conflicts.

In short, the de facto government stands squarely behind the Carrizal attack, and declines to alter its determination to make similar attacks upon American troops going in any direction except northward. Nor does it offer apologies or amends for the Carrizal attack, or disavow responsibility for it.

The language used in the latest note is temperate and argumentative; the purpose declared is unchanged.

Those who have been quick to jump to the conclusion that our troubles with Mexico are at end may be too hasty. Soft words do not soften harsh deeds. Either our soldiers were wrongfully in Mexico, or they were wrongfully killed at Carrizal. If they were wrongfully killed, the Mexican government should disclaim and apologize. There is a greater reason for than for the requirement made of Huerta to salute the flag at Vera Cruz. We are on trial now before the people of Mexico. If, according to their view of it, we shall be bluffed or chased out of their territory, many years will pass before American influence will weigh for anything there.

Answering some of the questions asked by subscribers concerning the working of a telephone exchange.

17: "Why do I receive 'wrong number' calls?"

Of course there is occasionally a wrong connection due to the operator "plugging in" the wrong jack on the switchboard—when you look at an "operating position" and the thousands of small holes or "jacks," you will not wonder that an error of this kind is sometimes made.

But—sometimes the calling party calls the wrong number, you know. It is easy to transpose figures in one's mind, without knowing it, or to give a number wrong. Sometimes the number is given right, but misunderstood by the operator—some figures, when spoken, sound very much alike.

Use the directory when calling unless you KNOW you have the number right. Speak distinctly when giving the number, and talk INTO the transmitter, not just at it. See that the operator repeats back the number you want. Then, if you get the wrong telephone, blame the telephone company—but not until then.

WHY TOM CONNALLY?

SPEAKING OF PLATFORMS.

The political platform of the average candidate for congress is usually a mere hodge-podge of vague generalities seized upon by the opportunism of the hour.

Logically incoherent, devoid of sincerity, chimerical, filled with the economic whimsies which promises something for nothing, the average platform produced by the thinking man nothing but a feeling of nausea.

It is therefore with a sense of gratification that one turns to the program of constructive statesmanship outlined by Tom Connally in his celebrated opening speech at Eddy, on the 14th of April.

In this masterly outline of the social, political and economic questions which confront the people of America, nothing perhaps shows the vision and the power of the man better than his plea for a restoration of the glorious days of the American merchant marine.

The farmers of Texas were robbed of millions of dollars in 1914 by the nefarious legislation of many years ago which assassinated the shipyards of America in the supposed interest of a few ship-builders. For want of ships two years ago the south paid hundreds of millions of dollars. These colossal sums were wrung from the cotton producers. Our cotton could not get to the markets of the world because there were no ships to carry it. English ships carry most of the world's commerce, and England's ships were tied up in the business of transporting war materials, or riding listlessly at anchor in safe harbors in fear of the fast cruise of Germany which, at that time, were taking heavy toll of British commerce, not only with our ships but with our men.

Not only as an economic necessity, but also as one of the great measures of preparedness, Mr. Connally urges our country to develop a great fleet of commerce-carriers under the Stars and Stripes.

Men of vision, men of constructive statesmanship, men of proved legislative ability, are needed in the congress.

As an classmate of Tom Connally's in Baylor university, or the University of Texas, whether or not Tom Connally was a good student.

Ask any comrade of Tom Connally in the Second Texas infantry whether or not Tom Connally was a good soldier. (He was an enlisted man. He did not seek a commission.)

Ask any Falls county court records whether or not Tom Connally was a good prosecuting attorney. Ask any lawyer in Texas whether or not Tom Connally is a good lawyer.

If Connally is not a good legislator, ask the Waters-Poe Oil Co. why it paid the state of Texas $1,800,000 for violating the Connally-Meacham antitrust act.

Be on the safe side—vote for a man who has had legislative experience. Vote for a man whose success before he is thirty-nine years old is but an earnest of his power and ability to grow through many years. We desire that his country may have the services of Tom Connally in congress, in view of the Connally-Meacham antitrust act.

MACHINIST ENDS LIFE BECAUSE ILL HEALTH

HARRY FLORENTINE, FORMERLY EMPLOYED BY COTTON BELT, FOUND DEAD BY FAMILY.

Had Been in Poor Health for Some Time—Bullet Penetrated His Heart.

Harry Florentine, a machinist who was formerly employed by the Cotton Belt railroad, but who has been in bad health for some time now, was found yesterday morning by members of his family with a bullet hole through his heart, a .38-caliber Colt's revolver having been used.

He had been lying at 701 South Fourth street, and it was there, at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, that the end came for Florentine. That it was a case of suicide was the verdict of Justice J. J. Padgett, who was called and viewed the remains. Florentine probably died almost instantly.

Florentine and his mother were living at the place mentioned. He also leaves two brothers, a boy of fifteen years of age, Cleon, and the other a daughter, Miss Olivette, about seventeen. He was a member of the Elks and of the Macabees. He had been in Waco several years, and was about 41 years of age at the time of his death. It is stated that he talked about self-destruction with friends after health failed, but it was not thought that he really seriously contemplated this step. He has been suffering from lung trouble for some time now.

A letter addressed to his daughter, Miss Olivette Florentine, of Minneapolis, Minn., was found in the room where the body lay. In addition to the son and daughter Mr. Florentine survived by a son who lives at Mart, Mrs. Bertie Kissner, and a brother in Waco, W. E. Florentine. His mother, Mrs. B. Florentine, was living with him on South Fourth street. Florentine was a man who was steady and industrious up to the time he was forced to quit work by ill health, and he did the best he could towards making a living even after he was very ill.

The remains were taken in charge by the Compton Undertaking company and will be sent to Tyler. Florentine's old home for interment. Services, however, will be held here before the remains are sent to Tyler, and the hour of the services has been fixed at 4:30 this afternoon at the residence, 701 South Fourth street. The remains will be sent to Tyler Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. Interment will take place there at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, the Elks to have charge of services at the grave.

W. A. Poage Secures Important Historical Document on County

A very interesting document has just passed from the hands of W. W. Lastinger to W. A. Poage, being the instrument which evidenced the original grant of land to Neill McLennan, for whom McLennan county was named.

The document, yellow with age, but still in a state of good preservation, was issued by President Anson Jones of the Republic of Texas, and dated 1846. The land, 20 acres, which constituted the original Neill McLennan, was situated northwest of Waco on Hog creek, and is described in the instrument as being in Milam county, as this was at that time in the district of Milam. The instrument was not recorded at Waco village until ten years after it was issued, as this county had not been organized. R. M. Billingsley was county clerk of McLennan county when the instrument was filed.

This old document is highly prized by Mr. Poage, who is collecting data for an historical write-up of McLennan county which is to be made at a later date.

John D. Robinson Will Speak on Court House Lawn Tonight

Local Red Cross Leaders Go to Mart to Form Chapter

Friends of Hon. John D. Robinson, candidate for congress from this district, are looking forward to his address on the courthouse lawn this evening and are confident that he will be greeted by a large crowd. Mr. Robinson is declared to be a determined and forceful speaker. The address will begin at 8:30 and the women are given a cordial invitation to be present. Arrangements have been made by the Robinson club.

Leaders of the local Red Cross chapter made a trip by auto to Mart last night to assist in forming a Red Cross organization at the place. Interest in the formation of a Mart chapter had been previously aroused by Miss Effie Cowan and some twenty-eight had asked for membership in the Waco chapter before the organization was formed there. The idea has met with a hearty response. Going from Waco were President W. W. Seely, Secretary Horace Flynn, W. P. Wilson, chairman of the membership campaign; Charles P. Link, secretary of the committee, and Dr. L. L. McGlashen, Red Cross lecturer.

Dr. Reddin Andrews, well known in Waco and Central Texas, spoke last night at the corner of Fifth and Austin streets and will speak again tonight, his general theme being the relations which should exist between men in the question of life's problems and the treatment which men should accord each other; also the regulations and conditions which should exist so as to make it possible for men to be otherwise than just in their treatment of and dealings with each other. In opening his remarks last night Dr. Andrews said:

"Socialism is certain to succeed, is bound to succeed. It is a systematic education of the people, and the socialist starts in with vim and vigor.

Communism at daylight on the first day of January will keep right at his post until midnight of the following December; it is a campaign of education that we are engaged in, and we are wedded to a principle, not to a candidate. The people are learning that we teach the truth, and the tide is constantly turning our way, we are employing the speaker and the printed page and every other legitimate method of reaching the people, and it is only a question of time until we triumph, because our cause is just and is the embodiment of justice."

The speaker dwelt at length on the points held by the socialists, and enlightened his hearers on the position maintained by the social speakers. He is constantly improving

WHY TOM CONNALLY?

SPEAKING OF PLATFORMS.

The political platform of the average candidate for congress is usually a mere hodge-podge of vague generalities seized upon by the opportunism of the hour.

Logically incoherent, devoid of sincerity, chimerical, filled with the economic imbecility which promises something for nothing, the average platform produces in the thinking man nothing but a feeling of nausea.

It is therefore with a sense of gratification that one turns to the program of constructive statesmanship outlined by Tom Connally in his celebrated opening speech at Eddy, on the 14th of April.

In this masterly outline of the social, political and economic questions which confront the people of America, nothing perhaps shows the vision and the power of the man better than his plea for a restoration of the glorious days of the American merchant marine.

The farmers of Texas were robbed of millions of dollars in 1914 by the nefarious legislation of many years ago, which assassinated the shipping trade of America in the supposed interest of a few ship-builders. For want of ships two years ago the south paid hundreds of millions of dollars. These colossal sums were wrung from the cotton producers. Our cotton could not get to the markets of the world because there were no ships to carry it. English ships taking heavy toll of British commerce.

Not only as an economic necessity, but also as one of the great measures of preparedness, Mr. Connally urges our country to develop a great fleet of commerce-carriers under the Stars and Stripes.

Men of vision, men of constructive statesmanship, men of proved legislative ability, are needed in the congress.

Ask any classmate of Tom Connally's in Baylor university, or the University of Texas, whether or not Tom Connally was a good student.

CAMPBELL WOULD PUT SKIDS UNDER "JIM"

CANDIDATE FOR UNITED STATES SENATE USES ORATORICAL PITCHFORK ON GOVERNOR.

IS STRONG FOR DRY NATION

Large Crowd on Court House Campus Hear Ex-Governor Voice His Political Views.

Paying a high tribute to the national democratic administration and pledging the people that he would stand for their rights against all forms of corporate encroachments if elected to the high office of United States senator, Thomas Mitchell Campbell spoke for over two hours to a crowd of several hundred on the courthouse lawn last night, and saw fit to devote an hour of it to grilling James Ferguson across the fires of oratory. With the exception of a few suggestive twists, the ex-governor confined his personal thrusts to the present governor. When the audience seemed to think that the speaker had about exhausted all possible arms of deduction and cutting sashes at the present gubernatorial administration, Mr. Campbell paused for a drink of ice water and a long breath and stirred up the fires under the governor's record again and again. Finally he declared that his record of the governor's record had "sent Uncle Jim in for repairs," but promised that he would fish him out of the governor's chair before the campaign is over.

The speaker marshalled an oppressive record against the liquor traffic, declaring that it was laying its colossal fortunes at the expense of the health of the nation—a attempt to hold itself supreme, though the sacredness of governments, liberty and lives fail. He charged that the organized liquor traffic was a menace to the church, a corrupter of the ballot, a crippler of schools, a blighter of mankind, a murderer of little children, a destroyer of God's work, a gainer—their ever forcing shackles around its victims and holding them mercilessly and cruelly.

Dr. W. M. Brumby of this city, who was state health officer during the Campbell administration, introduced the speaker of the evening, characterizing the Palestine candidate as a man of courage, a governor of backbone, a patriotic who had seen his platform enacted into laws. Arrangements were made for the speaking by the McLeannan Campbell club. A brass band enlivened the crowd previous to the address. The white mule, Old Demmytar, was active in advertising the meeting, carrying the banner of announcement before the speaking began. The ex-governor was unable to ride him to the courthouse, as per promise, because he had failed to get his saddle from home.

S. C. Padelford of Cleburne, candidate for congressman-at-large, spoke briefly in behalf of his friend, and after the address, Mr. Charles B. White of Fort Worth announced himself from the stand as a candidate for the office of state comptroller.

BAND PLAYS
"CAMPBELLS ARE COMING."

Following the introduction, the band struck up "The Campbells Are Coming" and the selection brought a smile from the ex-governor and a cheer from the audience. Mr. Campbell responded by expressing his appreciation for the large crowd that greeted him in the home town of Brooks and Henry, and declared that they would hear no unkind personalities from him about his opponents in the race. "The bitter word never strengthens any principle," he philosophized. "If the logic of my candidacy on its own merits will not appeal, then perhaps it will be wiser for you to select some other one," he concluded.

He explained that he had never had any love for office itself and was not attracted by its glamour. "I have held only one office, have run only one race—that of governor. When I left the governor's seat I did not know that I would again be a candidate. The opportunity to serve to the greatest benefit of people of my state have lured me into the arena as a candidate for the national senate. In this day of stress and mighty problems I believe that I can help solve them to the satisfaction of the people."

EULOGIZES PRESIDENT WILSON.

No other chief executive of the nation has had to contend with more mighty trials than to test the strength of America than Woodrow Wilson, thought Mr. Campbell, and the speaker insisted that Mr. Wilson was as great, if not the greatest president, that this country has ever known. He said that the president had made the honor of the country respected at home and abroad and had kept the spirit of neutrality until. Since the democratic party took over the responsibility of the government over three years ago, there never had been an administration that surpassed the present one for benefits which have reached the heartstones. He recited the tariff enactments, the Smith-Lever bill, the agricultural bill, the federal reserve act and others. Wilson will be overwhelmingly elected, he thought.

"I favor the great democratic program of preparedness—a program which will meet the necessities of an army and navy strong enough to repel any attack in every sea. I am firm for this, but I do not stand for a military despotism, a militarism that endangers the country itself."

Mr. Campbell spoke favorably of a merchant marine, a fleet that could be used in time of war to protect the country and a people of peace to extend the sphere of trade and commerce. He also thought that the government should manufacture its own armor plate and munitions of war, but not the bonds of the so-called munition trust. He declared that these large combinations of wealth tied up in armor and gun plants have indications to involve this nation in war and that their existence nourished the fomentation of strife—wars and rumors of war.

WOULD GO AFTER TRUSTS.

He thought that the government needed a more specific avenue of getting at the heart of the trust powers, and he recommended more power to the attorney general of the United States. He declared that the official should have power to issue subpoenas to the corporation kings and bring them to Washington for investigation of their concerns' actions. He advocated such a law, uncovering trusts which he believed had been created during his term as governor. This law was responsible for the

is the wife who educates herself to the advantages and wonderful opportunities for saving offered by the Cash Mercantile Stores. Too many American women indolently act upon the shallow theory that an article "must be" WORTH more merely because it costs more. They are thus taxed a heavy price all through life for such an indolent habit of thought. The woman of the hour is teaching her children to save to avoid debt. She is also helping her husband by getting full value for each dollar of income expended. Getting less is not complimentary to the "intelligence of even a millionaire's wife." Being liberal and generous, in affairs where it is proper and deliberate to be so, differs widely from being thrifless, thoughtless and careless in buying things, on a business basis.

The speaker marshalled an oppressive record against the liquor traffic, declaring that it was laying its colossal fortunes at the feet of power everywhere in attempt to hold itself supreme, though the sacredness of governments, liberty and lives fail. He charged that the organized liquor traffic was a menace to the church, a corruptor of the ballot, a spoiler of schools, a blighter of mankind, a murderer of little children, a destroyer of God's best gifts—that it is ever forging hatchets around its victims and holding them mercilessly and cruelly.

Dr. W. M. Arrangements were made for the speaker by the McLennan County Campbell club. A brass band enlivened the crowd previous to the address. The white mule, Old Democritus, was active in advertising the meeting, carrying a banner of announcement before the speaking hour, but the ex-governor was unable to ride him to the courthouse, as per promise, because he had failed to get his saddle from home.

S. C. Padelford of Cleburne, candidate for congressman-at-large, spoke briefly in behalf of his candidacy before the address, and Charles B. White of Fannin county announced himself from the stand as a candidate for the office of state comptroller.

BAND PLAYS "CAMPBELLS ARE COMING."

Following the introduction, the band struck up "The Campbells Are Coming," and the selection brought smiles from the ex-governor and cheer from the audience. Mr. Campbell began his speech expressing appreciation for the large crowd that greeted him in his home town of Brooks and Henry, and declared that they would hear no unkind personalities from him about his opponents in the race. "If the logic of my candidacy on its own merits does not appeal, then perhaps it will be wiser for you to select some other one," he concluded.

He explained that he had never had any love for office itself and was not attracted by its glamour. "I have never only one office have run into one race—that of governor. When I left the governor's seat I did not think that I could again be a candidate. He said that the president had made the honor of the country respected at home and abroad and had kept the spirit of neutrality within. I am firm for this, but I do not stand for a military despotism, a militarism that endangers the country."

Mr. Campbell spoke favorably of a merchant marine, a fleet that could be used in time of war to protect the country and in periods of peace to expand the limits of trade and commerce. He said that the government should manufacture its own armor plate and munitions of war, and not be bound to the so-called munitions trust. He believed that these large combinations would turn up in the war plants here in industries to involve this nation in war and that their existence flourished on the fomentation of strife—wars and rumors of war.

He thought that the government needed a more specific avenue of getting at the heart of the trust powers, and he recommended more power to the attorney general of the United States. He declared that this official should have power to issue subpoenas to compel investigation of their concerns and bring them to Washington for investigation of their concerns actions. He advocated such a law for uncovering trusts as he declared that he had enacted during his term as governor. This law was responsible for the

is the wife who educates herself to the advantages and wonderful opportunities for saving offered by the Cash Mercantile Stores. Too many American women indolently act upon the shallow theory that an article "must be" WORTH more merely because it costs more. They are thus taxed a heavy price all through life for such an indolent habit of thought. The woman of the hour is teaching her children to save to avoid debt. She is also helping her husband by getting full value for each dollar of income expended. Getting less is not complimentary to the intelligence of even a millionaire's wife." Being liberal and generous, in affairs where it is proper and deliberate to be so, differs widely from being thrifless, thoughtless and careless in buying things, on a business basis.

The thriving town of Robinson has at last settled the question of the erection of the beautiful new school building, and this new structure will be located on the attractive ground adjoining the Wesley Mann place in Robinson, this side of Robinson proper a little distance, and on the right of the road going into that place from Waco.

The school board secured two acres of ground from Mr. Mann, and the buildings are being built, shaded with trees, while a fine well of pure water is likewise on the grounds. It is proposed to set the handsome two-story brick school building back on the two acres, and this will form a very beautiful effect.

Work will begin within the next few days on the building, the intention being to rush the work as much as possible, so as to be ready for the fall term of school. The plans for the new building were prepared by Roy E. Lane of Waco, and this will be as up-to-date a school building as there is in the county outside of Waco.

CARUSO OFFERS DRAMATIC STORY OF LOVE AND WAR

A particularly timely addition to the new Victor records for July is made by Enrico Caruso, who contributes the spirited song of love and war, "My Bride Shall Be My Flag." This selection, written by Augusto Rotoli, a fellow countryman of the great singer, who for several years before his death in 1908 was a member of the faculty of the New England Conservatory of Music, gives opportunity to Caruso to show fully the dramatic quality which informs his work. It is the story of a rejected suitor, who, hearing that his successful rival has been drawn for army service, takes his place in the ranks and restores him to the arms of the one whom both love. "My bride," he declares, as he makes the renunciation, "shall be my flag; my home shall be the camp."

Good news for lovers of Lauder lyrics. The king of vaudeville is back with two rollicking numbers which are fully equal to any of his earlier successes. In "Bonnie Maggie Tamson" he tells of how three times a sexpence went bang during a fervid courtship, but how this amount and over was taken out in kisses. In "The Rotary" Harry expresses the appreciation of the courtesies of Rotary clubs in various cities which have entertained him.

Schumann-Heink contributes an appealing song by Carl Loewe in glorification of motherly love. A theme which this artist would approach con amore is handled with a tenderness and sincerity which should create a big demand for this record.

Emilio de Gorgoza offers Mattei's sentimental ballad, "Tis Not True," which is popular with concert goers and should be welcomed in its permanent form as a Victor record.

Sophie Brasau in "Birds in the Night" presents a lullaby the music of which was written by Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Following closely on the heels of her success in June with "The Mocking Bird," Alma Gluck contributes Carl Zoller's "Nightingale Song" from "The Tyrolean," with bird voices by Charles Kellogg. This song, which is in waltz time, makes an excellent companion record to last month's offering.

Julia Culp submits an interesting old Handel air which was introduced "Israel in Egypt" by Siegfried Oehrs, the famous Berlin conductor. To most lovers of oratorio this will prove a novelty, to all who appreciate sacred music it should furnish a treat.

"The Lotus Woman."

The line in George R. Sims' "Ostler Joe" descriptive of the lady "who lured men's souls to the shore of sin by the light of her wanton eyes" applies equally well to Juana, the Lotus Woman. This lady vampire is a native of South America, and was reared in rigorous seclusion by her haughty old father, Don Roberto, until the arrival of a dashing rebel chief at the hacienda. Whereupon she is forced to flee the next evening, and is granted by her old master, Lopez by name. When Don Roberto voices his disapproval he is shot down by Lopez, and the couple is next seen in camp, with Lopez in command of a conquering army. Jerry Mandeville, an American soldier of fortune, disappointed in a love affair at home, joins the rebel, and the Lotus Woman tries her fascination on him. She is repulsed and very angry because, as Jerry's successful rival next appears on the scene, and Juana makes a quick conquest of him. The way is thus opened for Mandeville to prove himself the better man and win his lady love as the final picture is thrown upon the screen. The path leading to this proper consummation of the tale is a bloody one, however, and strewn with the bodies of Lopez, Jerry Mandeville, and the fair Juana. American. During a perfect whirlwind of strictly melodramatic action, the rebel chief is killed by Don Roberto just as he is about to finish Juana; the American is shot down while trying to escape a squad of soldiers, and Juana murders "the happy dispatch" by the aid of her own stiletto.

Alice Hollister's performance of Juana is completely admirable, especially in the physical attractiveness, although she does not attempt to make this last quality unduly prominent. A vampire who depends upon her mental appeal to entice her victims is a novelty in this day and age.

(Written by Caroline Lockhart, directed by Oscar C. Apfel.)

Bruce Burt (William Farnum) and "Slim" Naudain (Charles Whittaker), partners on a prospecting trip, agree to work the small sand bars along the river in the Bitter Roots, and share alike in profits. Bruce works conscientiously, but "Slim" shirks and spends his time hunting birds in the mountains. As the pile of gold dust grows, "Slim" deliberately picks a quarrel with Bruce, with the object of killing him and obtaining possession of the gold. Bruce kills "Slim" in self-defense.

When he looks through "Slim's" effects, Bruce finds a letter written twelve years before, by "Slim's" sister. Bruce decides to find her and give her his own gold dust, making her believe it is "Slim's".

Before he has a chance to go in search of her, Victor Sprudell (H. A. Barrows) of Indiana, on a shooting trip with a guide, stumbles into his cabin, in the midst of a terrible blizzard. Sprudell tells Bruce that he has left his Chinese cook, Ill, in a cabin. Bruce volunteers to go for him. Finding that Ill may become a victim of the blizzard, Bruce tells Sprudell about "Slim's" sister and asks him to find her and give her the gold dust if he doesn't come back.

Bruce does not return. Sprudell goes home to Indiana prepared to float the Bitter Root Mining company with himself as president. The Dispatch sends Helen Dunbar (Betty Schade), a woman reporter, to interview him. When he tells his story, distorted as it is, Helen discovers that "Slim" is her half brother from whom she has not heard for years.

Sprudell gives her $500, telling her that is what her brother left. In the midst of a large meeting of backers who are to float his company, Sprudell is astounded to have Bruce's card brought in to him. Knowing that Bruce has not recorded his claim, Sprudell immediately releases him and denies his prior rights.

Bruce, without sufficient money to fight him in court, obtains water rights and controls the situation. He tries to raise money, but is unsuccessful. Finally, in return for whipping a man who has bested Winfield Harrah (Willard Louis), a sport-loving financier, in an encounter, Bruce obtains the money. He and Helen meet again after Sprudell has proposed to her. Bruce tells the truth about "Slim." He and she go into partnership to fight Sprudell.

Bruce builds his plant. Just as it is completed, it starts to burn. Bruce phones to order Schnitzel, who is in charge of the plant, to shut down the power. No answer. Bruce starts across the river to try to save Schnitzel from certain destruction. He finds him with his hands in his pockets watching the place burn. Schnitzel confesses that he has been paid by Sprudell to destroy the plant.

The plant is destroyed. The backers refuse to put up more money. Discouraged and heartbroken, Bruce writes of his failure to Helen, his little partner. As a great sacrifice, Helen goes to Bruce's father, a wealthy ranchman, from whom he has been estranged. Through her father and son become reconciled. The three find happiness and good fortune in the Bitter Roots.

RITARY TRAIN WILL CARRY TANGO DANCING APARTMENT

Waco Delegates Leaving on July 13
Will Have Marvel Train Equipment.

Waco delegates to the International Rotary convention at Cincinnati, July 16-20, will leave here at 10:30 a.m. next Thursday over the Special De Luxe Rotary train and will be the recipients of especial courtesies at Palestine, Little Rock, Memphis and Louisville with a side trip to Mammoth Cave. With the entertainment features which are being arranged at the convention it is expected that this gathering will prove to be one of the most appealing in the history of Rotary. A convention rate of $42.30, with July 25 as the limit, has been made from Waco. Among the entertainment features en route are the following:

At Palestine, where the Special De Luxe Rotary train is made up, the Rotary club of Palestine will provide entertainment during the time between the arrival of the different delegations and their departure on the special at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, July 13.

Arriving at Little Rock at 6 a.m. Friday, the Little Rock club will provide a special breakfast and an auto ride through the foothills of the Ozarks and other stunts to fill in the five-hour stop.

Five and half hours will be spent under the chaperonage of the Memphis Rotary Club. An auto ride over the city in the afternoon and special entertainments in the evening will be provided visitors.

At Mammoth Cave the members of the party will enjoy the unique experience of penetrating the subterranean mysteries of this colossal cavern, justly considered one of the wonders of the world. The party will take the combination route through the Mammoth.

From 3 in the afternoon of Saturday until 1 o'clock Sunday morning the party will be kept busy enjoying the entertainment features that will be provided by the Louisville Rotarians.

The Special De Luxe Rotary train to Cincinnati will have all-steel equipment, consisting of modern, high-class standard Pullmans, comfortable observation and dining cars, also tango dancing car, music, etc. Railway representatives say that this will be one of the most comfortable and finest special trains that was ever operated from Texas.

Oat Sacks Bring High Prices Now

Kiddies who used to collect empty oat sacks and longingly hope that maybe—the sack buyers would allow them two or three cents for a good, full-sized oat sack, now feel opulence and wealth in their very grasp when they contemplate the prices paid for these sacks.

It was stated yesterday by Commissioner Ben Richards that he sold the empty oat sacks of the city for $2.50 each, and got a check for $2,500 for a lot of sacks alone. This shows that the price on sacks has been soaring, along with everything else, and the men who raised and harvested small-grain crops in this section can testify as to the value of sacks.

Therefore persons who have empty sacks in their barns had better look them over and get them into the hands of the buyers of sacks before the rats and mice gnaw holes in them, for these sacks have a real value which runs the total into good money in a short time if a fellow has any quantity of the grain containers.

VOTE FOR SIGNING OF WHITE WAY CONTRACT

MAYOR AND SECRETARY ARE IN-
STRUCTED TO SIGN CON-TRACT FOR THE CITY.

Agreement is Signed With Teamsters'
Union—Pass Ordinance on
"Weed Cutting."

Mayor John Dollins and City Secretary John Davis were authorized to sign the white way contract on Austin street yesterday morning at the meeting of the city commission, thus putting a long cherished plan of the Y. M. B. L. in definite form for actual fulfillment, and the material can be ordered at once and a "get-busy" program inaugurated on this matter.

It was decided at this meeting that taxpayers who are not members will be notified, and if payment is not made within sixty days, that suits will be filed in the city attorney.

A contract with the Teamsters' union, which has been on hand for some time, was authorized to be signed at the meeting yesterday, after considerable debate.

An ordinance providing for cutting weeds on private property in the city was passed under suspended rules.

Reports of the city bacteriologist, Dr. J. E. Collins and of the building inspector, S. P. Herbert, were read and filed.

Sidewalk Inspector J. B. Strother's report for the month of June was submitted, read and properly referred.

A bill of $200 for making surveys last year for the sewage disposal plant was presented, and referred to the finance committee.

Producers' Refining company petitioned for permission to erect tanks, etc., in East Waco. Referred to the fire marshal and finance commissioners.

The report of the fire marshal for June was presented.

The Texas Power and Light company was instructed to lay pipe for gas for petitioners on First street.

City Commissioner Stamp was elected in the capacity of toastmaster, delivering the address of welcome.

Miss Jewell Johnson rendered several readings, being forced to respond to encores.

Other speakers were Warren Wood Hunt, who spoke upon "Should We Have War With Mexico," Ed Johnston chose as his subject "Power of the Human Voice," William R. Anderson spoke on "Silos of Today."

NATIONAL BANKS TO SHOW UP BETTER NOW THAN ONE YEAR AGO

"The statements of the national banks will show very substantial betterment in conditions over this time last year, and while we have not yet had time to digest the matter, we know that the situation is substantially ahead of last year, and is an improvement all along the line."

This in substance was the summing up yesterday of the cashing of national banks in Waco, who were asked concerning conditions at present as compared with the situation a year ago. The cashiers all talked hopefully and optimistically of the situation as reflected in the statements which have been called for, and said that they believed the improvement evident in the bank reports would be reflected generally in nearly all lines before long, while an improvement has already come in some directions.

The national banks are the great financial barometers of the country, and the showing which is being made in this direction is one which it is thought will be most heartening and encouraging when thoroughly digested, analyzed and elucidated.

Believes Nation Heart and Soul for State of Preparedness

That the people of this country are undoubtedly in favor of a state of reasonable preparedness, and that their patriotism has been stirred as it has not been in a long time, is the opinion of J. M. Milstead, who lives in Little Rock, Ark., who on July 4 witnessed the Fourth of July celebration and a preparedness parade. Speaking of the matter yesterday Mr. Milstead said:

"I was one of the greatest sights I have witnessed in a long while. There were from 5,000 to 10,000 people in line, men, women and children, and it was the best people of Little Rock and surrounding country, too. The women marched nearly two miles, and it was a hot day, but their enthusiasm was fully equal to the occasion. There were about 3,000 soldiers in line, and the sight was an inspiring one. All lines of business were represented and the banker and the laborer were marching side by side. I never saw as many flags in my life, and the vehicles and buildings were fairly loaded down with them. The hotels of Little Rock were literally overrun. It was a great occasion, and Little Rock certainly did the thing up right."

ROTARY TRAIN WILL CARRY TA GO DANCING APARTMENT

Waco Delegates Leaving on July 13 Will Have Marvel Train Equipment.

Waco delegates to the international Rotary convention at Cincinnati, July 16-20, will leave here at 10:30 a.m. next Thursday over the Special De Luxe Rotary train and will be the recipients of especial courtesies at Palestine, Little Rock, Memphis and Louisville with a side trip to Mammoth Cave. With the entertainment features which are being arranged at the convention it is expected that this gathering will prove to be one of the most appealing in the history of Rotary. A convention rate of $42.50, with July 20 as the limit, has been made from Waco.

Among the entertainment features en route are the following:

At Palestine, where the Special De Luxe Rotary train is made up, the Rotary club of Palestine will provide entertainment during the time between the arrival of the different delegations and their departure on the special at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, July 16.

Arriving at Little Rock at 6 a.m. Friday, the Little Rock club will provide a special breakfast and an auto ride through the foothills of the Ozarks and other stunts to fill in the five-hour stop.

Five and a half hours will be spent under the chaperonage of the Memphis Rotary club. An auto ride over the city in the afternoon and special entertainments in the evening will be provided the visitors.

At Mammoth Cave the members of the party will enjoy the unique experience of penetrating the subterranean mysteries of this colossal cavern, justly considered one of the wonders of the world. The party will take the combination route through the cave.

From 3 in the afternoon of Saturday until 10 o'clock Sunday morning the party will be kept busy enjoying the entertainment features that will be provided by the Louisville Rotarians.

The Special De Luxe Rotary train to Cincinnati will have all-steel equipment consisting of modern, high-class Pullmans, compartment, observation and dining cars, also tango dancing car, music, etc. Railway representatives say that this will be one of the most comfortable and finest special trains that was ever operated from Texas.

Oat Sacks Bring High Prices Now

Kiddies who used to collect empty oat sacks and longingly hope that maybe—the sack buyers would allow them two or three cents for a good, full-sized oat sack, can now feel opulence and wealth in their very grasp when they contemplate the prices paid for these sacks.

It was stated yesterday by Commissioner Ben Richards that he sold the empty oat sacks of the city for 5¢ each, and got a check for $29 for one lot of sacks sold. This shows that the price on sacks has been soaring, along with everything else, and the men who raised and harvested small-grain crops in this section can testify to the value of sacks.

Therefore, persons who have empty sacks in their barns had better look them over and get them into the hands of the buyers of sacks before the rats and mice gnaw holes in them, for these sacks have a real value which runs the total into good money in a short time if a fellow has any quantity of the grain containers.

VOTE FOR SIGNING OF WHITE WAY CONTRACT

MAYOR AND SECRETARY ARE INSTRUCTED TO SIGN CONTRACT FOR THE CITY.

Agreement is Signed With Teamsters' Union—Pass Ordinance on "Need Cutting."

Mayor John Dollins and City Secretary John Davis were authorized to sign the white way contract on Austin street yesterday morning at the meeting of the city commission, thus putting a long cherished plan of the Y. M. B. L. in definite form for actual fulfillment, and the material can be ordered at once and a "get-busy" program inaugurated on this matter.

It was decided at this meeting that taxpayers who are delinquent will be notified, and if payment is not made within sixty days, that their suits will be filed by the city attorney.

A contract with the Teamsters' union, which has been on hand for some time, was authorized to be signed at the meeting yesterday, after considerable debate.

An ordinance providing for cutting weeds on private property in the city was passed under suspended rules.

Reports of the city bacteriologist, Dr. C. E. Collins, and of the building inspector, S. P. Herbert, were read and filed.

Side-walk Inspector J. B. Strother's report for the month of June was submitted, read and properly referred.

A bill of $200 for making surveys last year for the sewage disposal plant was presented and referred to the finance commission.

The Producers' Refining company petitioned for permission to erect tanks, etc., in East Waco. Referred to the fire marshal and finance commissioners.

The report of the fire marshal for June was presented.

The Texas Power and Light company was instructed to lay pipe for gas for petitioners on First street.

Citizens living on North Twelfth street, between Jefferson and Morrow streets, asked that that street be repaved as soon as possible, stating it is in bad condition. Referred to the street commissioner.

An ordinance requiring the cutting of weeds on private property by owners of property in the city was passed under suspended rules.

Street Commissioner Stamp was authorized to buy a car of cement for use by the city, the best bid being $2.54.

Mayor Dollins said that action would have been taken on the pure food law but for the illness of Dr. Baker, city physician. He thought that Dr. Baker would soon be able to resume his duties fully and it was hoped to settle this matter.

Ed. A. Wilson asked that a gutter on Trinity avenue at Twenty-fifth street be fixed, in order to further the delivery of mail. Referred to Street Commissioner Stamp.

Commissioner Cockcroft had a number of minor matters referred to proper departments.

Commissioner Cockcroft said that the contract submitted by the Teamsters' union and which the union desired the city to sign, should be submitted to the city attorney, to see whether it would be legal and best for the city to sign the contract.

Commissioner Richards moved as a substitute that the contract be signed by the city. He said it called for the same amount of pay as the old contract, and all features which were objectionable had been eliminated.

Commissioner Cockcroft insisted that the city attorney should pass on the contract more fully.

Commissioner Richards read the contract and said the city was already working under the contract, in so far as compliance with its provisions was concerned.

Commissioner Harlow thought that the city attorney should pass on the legality of the matter.

City Attorney Maxwell said he was ready to answer any question about the matter at once, without any delay. He said it would not be enforceable in court, as the men could not be forced to work unless they wished to do so. The city was not bound, either.

Commissioner Richards said it was simply an agreement, not a contract, and the men in the Teamsters' union would appreciate the agreement, and no harm would be done any one.

The motion of Commissioner Richards carried unanimously, when the vote was taken.

The commission then adjourned.

A pleasant visitor. After the program the following officers were elected for the next two months: Ed Johnston, president; W. R. Anderson, vice president; W. A. Blair, recording secretary; G. R. Murray, corresponding secretary; Oscar Adwan, chaplain.

The program committee, headed by C. H. Machen, will be composed of E. L. Shaffer and T. E. Leach.

A telegram was sent to the club from Bill S. Hammand, who is in Oklahoma, expressing regret at being unable to be present for the banquet.

The club is indebted to Manager Pelton for the splendid repast served.

Program for next meeting, which will be held on the afternoon of Saturday, July 16.

The welcome of the evening was extended by Frank West, Esq., in fitting form.

Then came the following delightful program:

Piano solo, Gertrude Reese.

Recitation, Katherine Williams.

Piano solo, Gertrude Reese.

Recitation, Ella May Moore.

Violin solo, Mrs. A. E. Dewberry, accompanied on the piano by Mr. A. E. Dewberry.

Dialect vocal solo, Miss Frances Compton; by special request she gave a dialect reading and another solo.

"Friendship," "Love and Truth," by Mrs. A. E. Dewberry.

Vocal duet, Misses Fay and Pearl Bailey.

Reading, Mrs. Carroll.

Vocal duet, Misses Fay and Pearl Bailey.

Recitation, "The Tennessee Preacher" (humorous), William Robertson.

Piano solo, Miss Mamie Davis.

Vocal solo, Mrs. Fitzhugh.

Frank Tirey, Esq., expressed thanks to those who participated in the program.

The next social meeting will be held the first Wednesday night in August, so it was stated by Mrs. Ada Chavers, who is reported to be on the sick list, and Mrs. Chavers made a timely talk to those present.

The program committee which arranged for the splendid meeting Wednesday night was as follows: William Robertson, J. A. Richardson, Wiley Flowers, Mrs. Ada Chavers, Mrs. E. Dewberry, Mrs. Wiley Flowers, Mrs. John Moore.

NATIONAL BANKS TO SHOW UP BETTER NOW THAN ONE YEAR AGO

"The statements of the national banks will show a very substantial betterment in conditions over this time last year, and while we have not yet come to digest the matter, we know that the situation is substantially ahead of last year, and is an improvement all along the line."

This in substance was the summing up, yesterday, of the cashiers of national banks in Waco who were asked concerning conditions as compared with the situation a year ago. The cashiers all talked hopefully and optimistically of the situation as reflected in the statements which have been called for, and said that they believed the improvement evidenced in bank reports would be reflected generally in nearly all lines before long, while an improvement has already come in several directions.

The national banks are the great financial barometers of the country, and the showing which is being made in this direction is one which it is thought will be most heartening and encouraging when thoroughly digested, analyzed and elucidated.
